Gould's 170th commencement ceremonies set for Saturday

By JOHN NESBITT

The Gould Academy Class of 2006 will receive diplomas on Saturday during the school's 170th commencement exercises.

The Rev. Virginia S. Rickeman of the West Parish Congregational Church will give the invocation, and the keynote speakers will be retiring Gould faculty members Mac Davis and Dr. Dutch Dresser.

Valedictorian Julia Hamilton Rhinelander and student speaker Charlie Mele will also address their classmates prior to the awarding of honors and diplomas.

During his 26-year career at Gould Dr. Dresser, or "Dutch" as he's known to his colleagues and friends, has touched thousands of student lives through his work as a classroom teacher, founder and director of a summer school, director of studies, chief information officer, and associate head of school.

In the 1980s Dr. Dresser brought computer technology to Gould, and in the early 1990s he was responsible for bringing Internet connectivity to Gould, the public schools in Bethel, and the citizens of Bethel.

During his 26-year career he has shared his own intellectual passions by teaching electives such as Pascal programming, ethics, celestial navigation, database design, advanced robotics, and technology in society.

During Mac Davis' 35-year career at Gould he has touched thousands of lives through his memorable classroom teaching, as a leader on Gould's junior Four Point winter camping expeditions for 22 consecutive years, as an advisor, and as Gould's Dean of Faculty since 1997.

A Master Maine Guide, Davis spends several weeks of his summer each year leading canoeing trips on Maine's wilderness waterways.

He is also an avid cross-country skier who has competed in several Canadian Ski Marathons. His two sons, Jay '86 and Kevin '90 are both Gould graduates.

Valedictorian Julia Hamilton Rhinelander is the daughter of Carrie Rhinelander Sysko of Newry and Philip H. Rhinelander of Falmouth.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, a student proctor, and she has attended Gould for four years. She has also been active as a peer tutor in Gould's Writing Center, a lead actress in several Gould drama productions, a member of several Gould musical groups, and as a member of the J.V. women's soccer team.

Memorial Day 2006

A child long ago in Nazi occupied Holland, she now has a chance to say 'thank you, veterans'

Tineke Ouwinga of Bethel, a native of the Netherlands, was a young child during World War II. She was asked by American Legion Mundt-Allen Post 81 Commander Norm Clanton to speak at Bethel's Memorial Day observance on Monday.

The following is the text of her address, directed in part to the World War II veterans present:

Thank you for this honor to speak to you — not as a former soldier, but as a toddler whose family lived in occupied German territory during World War II.

My parents were married 10 days before the surprise, overwhelming attack by the Germans on May 4, 1940.

They lived near Rotterdam, which was totally bombed. They fled north, north of Amsterdam, where their families lived and where they had grown up.

My grandfather, a carpenter, built two hiding places in my parents' house — a double closet wall and a hole underneath the stairs, where someone could lie down.

My father, an accountant, was hiding during the war years because the Germans sought young men to work in the factories.

My mother hid two people who worked for the underground.

We also hid a Jewish teenager who, unfortunately, was caught by the Germans and died in Auschwitz.

Selectmen's solid waste handling goes to Bethel voters

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Frustrated with the failure of Bethel officials to address the town's long- term solid waste disposal needs, Scott Hynek is taking the matter directly to Bethel voters.

Hynek is one of six members on the Tri-town Solid Waste Committee, which oversees operation of the Route 2 site.

The site serves Bethel, Newry and Hanover, with the three towns sharing the costs, respectively, at roughly 55, 38 and 7 percent.

Annual combined spending by the three towns on solid waste disposal is currently in the neighborhood of $450,000.

Hynek is also a retired consultant engineer, and in recent years he has submitted several detailed proposals for upgrading the facility.

One plan called for spending $140,000 to improve various inefficiencies at the station.

The improvements, he calculated, would result in annual savings of $43,000, thus paying back the investment in 3.3 years.

Money for the work was put in the selectmen's initial capital improvement budget for the following year, but the project fell victim to the budget cutting ax.

'If [voters] don't think we're taking the lowest bid and taking responsibility for the town's dollars, they should vote us the hell out of here, but don't tie our hands.'

SELECTMAN REGGIE BROWN
On a proposal that will go to Town Meeting voters

A similar proposal the following year met the same fate.

This year, Town Manager Scott Cole said, "we didn't even bother."

At one point last year, Hynek even proposed taking over operation of the facility himself and investing $120,000 of his own money.

"I believe in those numbers [in his financial analysis]," Hynek said at the time. "They didn't come from just nowhere. And if one believes in those numbers then it is fiscally irresponsible not to make this investment."

The selectmen politely turned the proposal down.

Writing for the selectmen, Cole told Hynek: "Board members do agree that operational changes and infrastructure improvements are necessary at the Bethel transfer station. With that stated, it is the town's intent to continue studying the matter and we hope that you will stay involved in the months to come."

Route 201 byway coordinator tells Gilead designation is a plus

By ALISON ALOISIO

"I'm stretching to come up with negatives," said Bob Haynes, coordinator of the National Scenic Byway on Route 201 along the Kennebec River.

Haynes described the pros and cons of such designation at a public hearing in Gilead last Thursday.

The meeting focused on an effort to designate 60 miles of Route 113 between Gilead and Standish, as well as Route 2 between Gilead and Bethel, as a state scenic byway.

The effort could be also the first step on the way to possible designation as a National Scenic Byway.

The plan has been met with some skepticism in the Bethel area, as residents fear the designation could result in more traffic and government regulation.

The designation is intended to both preserve resources and promote economic prosperity.

About two dozen people turned out for the Gilead hearing, conducted by Toni Seger of Lovell, who is spearheading the designation effort.

The two roads travel through 11 towns, and strong public support is needed to submit an eligibility application to the national program, Seger said.

National designation is based on at least one of six "intrinsic qualities" possessed by the road: cultural, historic, natural, recreational and scenic.

Seger invited Haynes to talk about the eight-mile stretch that he has overseen since 2000, when it received national designation.

Different uses

There are some differences between routes 201 and 113.

Route 201 is a major travel route between the U.S. and Canada. "It's mostly commercial," said Haynes. "We like it that way. If the trucks went

CIVILITY WORKS BEST

To the Editor:

Bethel thrives on its citizens' interest in and tolerance for differing views on what will sustain us best as individuals and a community. Listening civilly to the merits of each view, without speculation as to motive, the speaker's origins, or verbal punches, would seem to be the means for the greatest collective wisdom to result.

THANKS, ROXBURY ATV RIDERS

To the Editor:

I want to thank Mike Worthley and the Roxbury ATV Riders for their assistance and support in helping to locate the rider that ran over my dog on May 14. They took the incident very seriously, not only because it reflected on the club, but also out of a sincere concern for my dog's well-being.

I also want to thank the rider who contacted Mike and then myself as soon as he had read the club news in the paper. He had left the scene as he believed the dog was fine because he got up and ran off after being run over. Both the club and the rider generously offered to pay for the veterinary bill without being asked.

I am not a fan of ATVs and gave my permission for them to cross my property with some hesitation. However, this incident has shown me how seriously they take the right to travel on other people's property and how hard they are willing to work to keep the trails safe for all. A second chance is definitely in order.

As a word of advice to any rider, when encountering domestic animals on the trails, stop and shut off your machines and wait for the animals to be removed from the scene or be contained in some way. My dogs hate the machines but love the people on them. It may take a few minutes out of your day, but it is much better for all involved. My dog will make a full recovery mostly due to how muscular his body is. Another dog may not be so lucky.

CEMETERY DONATIONS

To the Editor:

A few days ago Nan Timberlake wrote, "Did you visit a cemetery during the recent Memorial Day Weekend? Did you maybe visit Riverside Cemetery on the North Road? I hope you answered 'Yes' and 'Yes.'"

Next, did you read the article in the May 25 issue of The Bethel Citizen concerning Riverside? If you did, you will know that the mighty Androscoggin is having its way with the cemetery. You will know there's a big question ahead of the association to address the rapidly eroding banking. And next to the question is a very large dollar sign.

If the association eventually receives its requested $150,000 in disaster relief funds, the association expects it will have to raise $37,500 (25 percent of the grant) in local funds or service in kind to qualify to receive the grant. Therefore donations to the Riverside Cemetery Association's Riverbank Restoration Fund will be very gratefully accepted. Donations should be sent to: Riverside Cemetery Association, Inc., c/o Roger Conant, PO Box 133, Bethel, ME 04217."

THE DA VINCI DELUSION

To the Editor:

The book and movie "The Da Vinci Code" have proven to be enormously popular. The movie alone recorded a $224,000,000 worldwide opening. As one who has the read the book, I admit that it was entertaining, fast-paced and intriguing. Although the book is found in the fiction section, the author, Dan Brown, claims to have based his book on historical realities. In his book he has made some grossly misleading statements regarding Jesus Christ and the Church. I am concerned that it may leave people in a state of confusion and feel obligated as a pastor to help correct Brown's erroneous claims.

For those that have read the book, seen the movie or are just plain curious we will be showing the movie "The Da Vinci Delusion" hosted by D. James Kennedy at the Bethel Alliance Church on Route 26, across from Telstar, on June 7, 8, and 9 at 7 p.m. each evening. This movie will give "solid facts to answer historical fictions that have beguiled and ensnared millions." This is a free event and open to all. Popcorn and drinks will be served.

BOARD IGNORES THE WILL OF THE VOTERS

To the Editor:

I am writing about a failure, on the part of our SAD44 School Board, to obey basic principles of accountability. Out of a mistaken sense of entitlement, they are neglecting an obligation to fully submit their budgeting policy to the will of the voters.

As a Woodstock selectman from 1996 to 2005, responsible for setting our property tax mill rate, I paid very close attention to school budgets. They are by far the largest part of the local tax burden. And like many citizens I followed intently the statewide ballot initiative, Question One, passed into law in 2004.

This referendum was conceived as a "property tax relief measure." It was debated at length, very publicly, in two separate election cycles, as a "property tax relief" measure. There was a companion movement of municipal governments pledging that at least 90 percent of all resulting boosts in state aid to education would be used to "decrease property taxes."

Nowhere was Question One sold as a means to increase spending on local schools. But that is exactly how our School Board is using it, without openly seeking voters' approval for this re-appropriation of funds.

State aid for education to our school district, as a result of two statewide votes, has finally taken a big jump this year: up 17-1/2 percent, a very welcome $408,000 increase. At last, after 20 years of shifting the burden to the property taxpayer, the state is beginning to make good on its obligations. At last we are getting the promised property tax relief.

Think again. Instead of a reduction in the local share of school costs, the new SAD44 budget calls for a 4.1 percent increase. This budget swallows that $408,000 whole, and asks for $256,000 more.

Such a reversal of the intentions of voters, who arduously advocated and passed Question One, could only be legitimized if the School Board frankly recommended it, and convinced the voters that it was necessary. Instead, they never mentioned the increase in state aid, in their annual budget mailing. (It appears, unannotated, on one line of a lengthy spread sheet.)

The School Board wants to eat all our promised tax relief. And does not even think to tell us. They feel entitled to take what it is only ours to give, if we do choose.

The $256,000 increase they present to us is actually $664,000 ($256K plus $408K). A 10.9 percent increase, not 4.2 percent.

Perhaps our district, if fully informed, would approve these increases. Perhaps not. But it is wrong not to tell us upfront the use of which Question One funding is being turned. You ignore duties of accountability when you turn property tax relief dollars into increased school spending, without directly asking for voter approval of such a move.

I will vote "No" on the SAD44 budget, on June 13.

SEEKING: YARD ART AND A PRINCESS

To the Editor:

Plans are underway for this year's Mollyockett Day celebration on July 15 sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council. This year's parade float theme is "Yard Art." We're looking for floats that are chock full of everything folks have in their yard as ornaments and decorations or maybe even a float that is one of those items. Floats that best represent this year's parade theme are eligible for prizes but other kinds of floats, cars, contraptions, animals, musicians, marchers, fire engines, etc., are all welcome to participate. To enter the parade, simply show up on Railroad Street at 10:30 a.m. on Mollyockett Day. The parade coordinator, Scott Cole, will help you find your place in the line-up.

The Council is also looking for the next "Princess" Mollyockett. Each year a young girl from the greater Bethel area community is chosen to portray "Princess" Mollyockett and preside over the day's events. The Council is inviting all girls in the eligible age group of 13 thru 18 years old to apply. The deadline is June 14. Application forms are available at the Telstar Regional High School office and on the bulletin board of the Bethel Food Liner. You may also call the Mahoosuc Arts office at 824-3575 to have a form sent. Send a completed form along with an essay of at least 150 words describing "what Mollyockett Day means to you." Please also include a color or black and white photo that will be used in the Mollyockett Day booklet. All photos will be returned.

If chosen, the applicant will be expected to participate in the parade, award the parade trophies and preside over various events on the common throughout the day. She will also receive a trophy and a $100 savings bond. Please send all applications to PO Box 534, Bethel and direct all inquiries to the Mahoosuc Arts office at 824-3575.

SENIOR THEATER THANKS

To the Editor:

On Sunday afternoon, May 21, the WMSC Western Mountains Senior Players made their debut. The Players brought a joyous and fun-filled performance to Bethel. It was my privilege to work with and direct these 12 talented persons. I want to thank them for their willingness to spend many hours developing their characters and working with each other to bring Senior Theater to our community.

I would also like to thank Telstar and the West Parrish Congregational Church for providing us places to practice. Gould Academy graciously allowed us to use the McLaughlin Science Center Auditorium, which proved to be the perfect arena for our performance. Thanks to all.

STRENGTHENED BY THE ARTS

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Lynne Arizzi and to the Western Mountains Senior Players for their extraordinary performance on Sunday, May 21. The health of our community is strengthened by the arts, and particularly so when it is our very own community members who are given the opportunity to share and express their talents.

Coming this July 1st is the 2nd annual Shy, Novice and Closeted Art Show, another opportunity that provides the space and encouragement for community members to share and show their talent in art. Last year 19 artists, ages 8 to 82, displayed their work and well over 200 people came through to enjoy the show. To participate you must be shy, a novice or a closeted artist. Please contact me at 824-3889 with your questions and for encouragement.

A very special thank-you to the wonderful Godmother Planning Committee, Melody Bonnema, Ellen Crocker and Cathy Heffernan and to all that came to the ball.

The fruits of their support happened Sunday, with over 100 elementary girls running, walking, skipping a 5K event down at the Oxford Hills track. It was a beautiful sight.

Lastly, thank you to our local business sponsors, Bethel Family Dentistry (and assistant coach Tracy Mason) and W.J. Wheeler Insurance. Thanks again,

WONDERFUL TRIP TO BOSTON

To the Editor:

We had a wonderful time on our fifth-grade field trip to Boston. It was nice to find a way to learn without being in the classroom. I personally loved the trip.

We went on a duck tour first. We all got to drive the duck. We went to the Tomb after that. It was pretty fun. I tested puzzle solving with an ancient Egyptian tomb background. Then we went to the USS Salem, where we stayed the rest of the day. We took out our sleeping bags and stuff and settled into our bunks. They were pretty uncomfortable, to the point where we did not sleep. I liked it though.

We had a science lesson on electricity, a tour, and fired off a spud gun. We then took a tour of the islands on a boat. We got riled up there. We then watched movies with cookies. We had a fire drill and finally went to bed.

When we woke up we got our breakfast and did a scavenger hunt that was wicked hard. We learned a lot of stuff there. We then went to Fenway Park. We learned a lot about the Boston Red Stockings, now the "Boston Red Sox." I think the most money was spent at this gift shop. Then we went to the Museum of Science. We doubled up and went to the gift shop. We also ate our lunch here. The pizzas were most popular. We toured around and then went to the electricity show. Have you heard the myth about being safe in a thunderstorm in a car because of the rubber tires? It is wrong. It is because you are completely encased in metal. We toured around a little bit and went home.

The fifth grade thanks our wonderful chaperones and teachers: Marie Keane, Linda Kuzyk, Gabrielle Rafford, Stacy Rossow, Kristen Drew, Tammy James, James Heath Sr., Judy Haines, Carole Del Duca, Jeremy Morin, Jennifer Casey, Jayden Irons, Michelle Kennagh, Peter Mason, Nancy Annis, Peter Kuzyk, and Dawn Brackett and all the parents who helped with fundraising. A special thank you goes out to Stacy Rossow who organized the whole trip. Thanks for your time, patience (lots of it), kindness and generosity. All of us in the fifth grade applaud you.

Hynek

to push voters directly for some action.

Hynek has successfully petitioned to have an article placed on this year's annual Town Meeting warrant directing the Board of Selectmen to award contracts for solid waste disposal subject to competitive bid.

And he has plans for next year's meeting as well.

In a memo to his fellow Tri-town committee members, Hynek wrote: "Forget about the Bethel Budget Committee, and forget about Bethel selectmen. I'll put an item on the 2007 Bethel town warrant that asks the town to vote either to borrow the money for the upgrade and reap the savings for the town or to authorize a private contractor to invest his own money and to reap most of the savings. The Bethel citizens will understand what the Bethel selectmen don't seem to want to understand, namely that someone believes the numbers enough to put his own money at risk."

Town selectmen had no choice but to put the article for this year's Town Meeting on the warrant.

They recently did so, but they also indicated they were not happy to have the interference.

"I hate the whole thing, but it's got to go in there," said Reggie Brown. "If [voters] don't think we're taking the lowest bid and taking responsibility for the town's dollars, they should vote us the hell out of here, but don't tie our hands."

Dennis Doyon said he believed many people who signed the petition didn't know what they were signing.

"Most people don't know that Mr. Hynek had been before the board not once but twice in a self-serving way trying to get us to go with the lowest bid," Doyon said.

Hynek told The Citizen Wednesday that he had no intention of bidding to operate the facility himself.

"I'm retired," he said. "I don't want to be a trash hauler. No, not at all."

"I just want to see we're not paying any more than we need to," he said. "I think there should be several contracts — with this guy hauling this stuff and that guy hauling that stuff. I think there's plenty of room to save money there."

Newry grows impatient

Newry, for it's part, did put away some money, $40,000, toward a transfer station upgrade.

"We put money in. It's still sitting there. We're not getting anywhere," Selectman Jim Largess told Cole last week.

Owen Wight, a Tri-town committee member for Newry, said his town was paying a price for the inaction.

"Bethel always puts things off," Wight said, "and every time we push things off it costs us money."

Cole nodded in apparent agreement, but he acknowledged the situation is unlikely to change any time soon.

"The process," he conceded, "is stalled."

"The only stumbling block is that the Bethel process has not delivered the money," he said. "You've been held hostage by the budget process in Bethel."

In an April 1 memo to his own board, Cole asked the selectmen "to outline a course of action on this matter."

The town manager noted that Tri-town's current solid-waste contract with D&E/Pine Tree expires Dec. 31, 2007, and "a capital upgrade [at the transfer station] in the next 18 months will significantly broaden the town's options in any renegotiation, or bidding, of contractual services."

'Thank you'

Occasionally soldiers with dogs came around to search or to ask for lodging. My mother and an aunt who lived nearby lent each other their children and escaped searches. When the German soldiers came to one of the homes and found a total of seven children in a home, they concluded no one would try to hide there.

At night, our windows were covered with black blinds, so planes could not see when they were flying over the city.

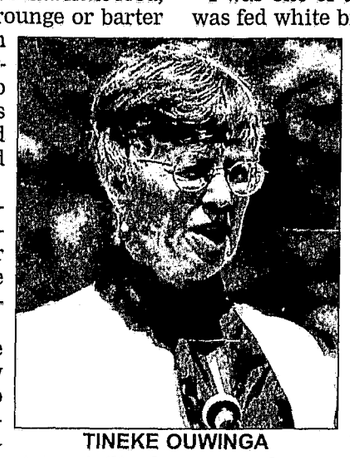
We heated and cooked on a coal stove and lit with oil lamps. All radios had to be confiscated but my mother hid hers in a hole cut out of the floor, covered by a rug.

Every evening the carpet would be rolled up and we listened to the BBC. Our Queen Wilhelmina, who had fled to London, would speak and encourage the Dutch people because the Allied troops were preparing an invasion.

The excitement when D-Day, June 6, 1944, arrived and the troops landed in Normandy, was so high. We thought we were going to be freed soon. The BBC told us about their troops' progress.

What a bitter disappointment it was when the Germans stopped the Allies at the town of Arnhem. The south was freed but the north was not.

The Hunger Winter of '44/'45 was terrible. We had little food, and had to scrounge or barter for food. Even the underground, who had helped us out with food stamps, could not do much.



TINEKE OUWINGA

My mother gave us tulip bulbs for food because of some nutritional value.

When the planes flew over to drop food packages with parachutes, my quiet, civilized mother ran with the others to the field. She fought with others to get hold of food for the family, so desperate she and others were.

In April and May the Allies broke through. On May 5, when it was clear the Germans were gone, we were liberated. My parents and so many others danced through the streets.

The tanks of the Canadians and Americans rumbled through the streets. The red/white/blue/orange (our national colors) appeared everywhere.

I was one of those kids who was fed white bread and chocolate, which I'm sorry to say I promptly threw up because the food was too rich.

The liberation put an end to five years of occupation.

Five years in which neighbors and family supported one another, but also five years of worry, humiliation, hunger, suspicion, fearing betrayal to the Germans because of our underground, and hidden guests.

It was only when much later, as a teenager and adult, I visited the cemeteries of American soldiers in Margraten, the Netherlands, Henry-Chappelle in Belgium, near the Battle of the Bulge, and the main cemetery in Normandy, France, that I realized at what cost our liberation had come.

They had left home and family, were wounded and sacrificed their lives to free people like me. What courage!

What debt I will always have toward you.

How could I ever have imagined I would stand on this common, and be given the chance to say a deeply heartfelt thank you from the bottom of my heart.

In Dutch, I would like to say: Hartelijke dank voor alles wat jullie voor ons gedaan hebt. (Thank you for all you have done for us.)

I will always be grateful to you. If it weren't for you, I would not be here.

I literally owe you my life and my freedom.

To all of you who fought in different parts of the world, in the Pacific, where I lost an aunt in a Japanese concentration camp, while two cousins barely made it out alive — thank you.

For those who fought in Korea, Vietnam, the Gulf War, Afghanistan and now in Iraq — thank you for putting others ahead of yourselves, for being willing to venture out for the sake of freedom.

I, for one, will never forget.

Byway

away, then we'd be in trouble."

The northern part of Route 113, on the other hand, is a narrow, winding road, some of which is closed to traffic in the winter. The northern section runs through the WMNF.

Haynes said that in his area, the byways designation was also met with skepticism at first. Two towns at the southern end of the route chose not to participate.

"I think they wish they had now," he said.

A national scenic byway is overseen by a committee of local representatives, including selectmen from towns through which the road passes.

Haynes said that over the past five years, the byway has received a million dollars from a variety of sources for projects. Examples include a recreation trail along the river, scenic pullouts and interpretive signs.

He also said that while the scenic designation does not directly result in road improvements for a highway, "it gives you leverage [with the Maine Department of Transportation]. It would be embarrassing to have a byway full of potholes and broken pavement."

He said improving the road and adding turnouts makes it safer for all who use it.

Management of a byway, said Haynes, "is what you want to make it. There are no 'teeth' in it, as far as regulating land activities and traffic."

He acknowledged that because of the federal requirement for handicapped access, he did have to deal with some added costs on a project to build a bridge on a recreational trail.

Reaction

Ken Cole, Gilead's fire chief, expressed concern that with a scenic designation, Route 113 "will be promoted more, and it will be used more."

He was also worried that more traffic on the road would mean more accidents. That, in turn, would mean more calls for the Fire Department and to Bethel Rescue, which provides the service for Gilead.

"I would expect the Bethel Rescue bill to go up," he said.

Haynes said he had applied for a grant for the ambulance service in his area, and although it was not funded, he said it demonstrates that such services are eligible for aid funds.

Haynes acknowledged he had heard of a scenic highway in Colorado that saw enough increased usage that its managers decided not to promote it any more. But on the up side, he said, "You can manage your own exposure."

Selectman Paul Handlen said he thought the traffic on Route 113 would increase with time regardless of whether it received byway designation. He also said Route 113 does not now get regular maintenance and service.

Seger said that Route 2 in New Hampshire has state scenic byway designation. "You're already getting the traffic from that, but no benefit," she said.

Cole also expressed concern about boaters. He said that boat traffic on the Androscoggin River has increased greatly in the past decade, and a byway might add more boaters.

"I don't want it to turn into the Saco River," he said.

Katie Stuart of the U.S. Forest Service attended the meeting. She said the USFS was "generally supportive" of a scenic designation, but she could not speak officially for the service.

"It makes a lot of sense to me," she said.

She said it might be a good first step to apply for state designation and see how it works out before seeking national designation.

The current state process effectively already utilizes Stuart's suggestion, Seger said after the meeting.

If state designation were approved, the next step would be to draw up a management plan for the scenic corridor. Each town would vote on the plan. If all the towns voted it down, the process would stop at state designation, Seger said.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

The traditional Memorial Day weekend gathering at the Keniston Camp at Songo Pond proved to be a resounding success as usual, with 43 attending. Most of the sleeping quarters were tents and trailers stashed in the surrounding woods. A few slept in camp. The water was full of kids, kayaks and swimmers most of the time. Of particular importance was saying bon voyage to granddaughter Josie and husband Darrel Hannon of Vermont, who are moving to New Zealand next week. Also to grandson Glenn M. Bangs of South Paris, who is leaving for special training prior to assignment in Iraq next week.

Weekend holiday guests of Bud and Mary Paine were Don Ferrero of New Bedford, Mass., Dick Paine and Elaine Jacques of Auburn.

Betty and Henry Robertson had weekend guests Jean and Glenn Ramsay of Scarborough and MerryAnn and Jack Harkins of Brunswick.,

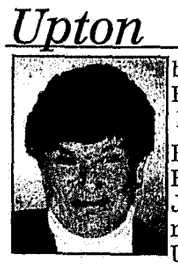
Alton Howe of North Waterford is in the Intensive Care Unit at the Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. He has been there for two weeks and will be there for two or three weeks more before being transferred to a responsible care unit. His wife is Donna Rice-Howe, daughter of Mary Rice-Keniston.

Douglas and Sandra Rice of Guilford, Conn., arrived at "The Chalet" at Sunday River on Thursday, the 25th. Their family members, Justin and Sue Rice, children Alyssa and William, and Rachel Rice-Welch and three-month-old twin boys, Liam and Lucas of Deep River, Conn., were also with them. Friday, they all spent the day at Mary Rice-Keniston's, mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother. They were busy working on flower gardens and vegetable garden, and enjoyed a picnic at noon on her deck. Doug, Sandy and Mary were at the Mountain Greenery in the afternoon choosing flowers for Mary and for the cemeteries on Sunday.

Saturday evening the Rices and Mary joined other family members at Al and Donna Rice-Howe's for their annual gathering and barbecue. Others present were "Chip" and Barbara Howe, children, Jiselle and Kaylea of Scarborough; Donald Rice of Waterford; Rob and April Olmstead, little girls, Olivia and Analiese of Cranston, R.I.; Kim and Jackie Kennagh and baby, Ava, of South Paris; Denise Urrabazo and friend, Ken, of Old Orchard Beach; and Roma Wilson of Waterford.

Grayson and Renee Wakefield returned last Friday after another visit with Baby Gracie at the Children's Hospital in Boston. This week they made a visit to her pediatrician in Norway, then back to the hospital again on Thursday, today. Hopefully they will be back home again by the weekend. They report that Gracie is doing well, but all our prayers are needed for her and her parents.

Upton



by Eleanor LeComte

Home again, Home again, Jiggity jig! We returned to Upton at the end of May. We missed all our neighbors and friends, but not the incessant rain inflicted on them this spring.

Summer weather is now here, enjoy the warmth and black flies. The little monsters feed the birds, but get their own nourishment from humans.

Collie Svendberg has opened her beauty shop on Route 26 on the corner of Mill Road. The quest for environmental improvement is on. Collie is doing her best to beautify the community.

Liz and Walt Stanczyc went on an overnight cruise from Portland to Boston on the huge new cruise liner. It was more than fantastic they report.

Best wishes to Gerry Geiling, Senior, who is recovering from surgery in New York.

Clyde and Barbara Stratton have returned from Ohio where they attended their grandson's graduation.

Ginny Williamson has notified the parsnip fans that they are available. Some say "Yummy," some say "yuk."

East "B" Hill is still open for traffic to Andover. The dirt section is quite passable.

Margaret Mitchell has had quite a bit of company since she returned from Florida.

Roger Lavallee has been very busy with his lawn and landscaping business.

Thanks to Cathy Garvey for the super job she did on our property.

Sue and Dick Angevine are way ahead with their tomatoes, roses and herbs in the greenhouse.

Everyone reports record numbers of birds returning to Upton. There are four male orioles and one female oriole on East "B" Hill. They also visit Mill Road and Back Street.

Our hummingbirds are everywhere. The females have arrived and there is more than a flurry of activity.

One of our neighbors leaves the small Christmas lights in her lilac bush all year. They are quite inconspicuous to all but the male hummers that are romancing them.

The rose-breasted grosbeaks are here in record numbers. They must have had a layover in Upton on their flight north. One of my favorite things is listening to the rose-breasted grosbeaks belting out a beautiful tune from a high tree at sunset.

The goose nest may have washed out in the high water.

The "Bird of the Week" is the black fly, Maine's other state bird.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

I hope everyone had a great Memorial Day weekend. The weather was very cooperative. Hugh and I had to go to cemeteries in Bethel, Gilead and Gorham, N.H. There were several yard sales along the way so we had to check them out. We found some interesting stuff and saw people that we had not seen for quite a while.

We ran into Richard and Nancy Fraser and Doris Fraser in our travels. They were out enjoying the nice weekend.

Steve McLain and his son, Brad, made a trip to Gorham, N.H, to run a few errands that they both needed to get done. Steve stopped by the other day with a beautiful hanging begonia that he got for my birthday. I also got a package from our son, Chris, and he called to wish me a Happy Birthday. Our other son, Tim, arrived at the house on my birthday in the evening with Michele and her son, Ajay, and William, Annie and Sidney Chapman. It was a lot of fun to have pizza and birthday cake and ice cream with the grandkids. Grama Linwood Cox came with William and Annie and stayed for some cake.

I got a cute birthday card from Hugh's sister, Mary Lou Berry. I think I have seen it before, but I just can't remember! Louann Bell sent me a beautiful birthday card that she had made. What talent! She did a great job and I feel honored that she took time off from her sewing business and all the other things that keep her so busy.

I rode to the Gilead Transfer Station with Hugh this past weekend, and I would like to make note of the condition of the area. Bob Noyes, station attendant, keeps the area very neat and orderly.

Things have been quite busy at the Joe and Dona Taylor residence on Route 2. Dona's mother was visiting for a couple of weeks and they have started work on their new house. The foundation has been poured and things are moving along quite well.

Raymond Harrington of Monroe, Ga., stopped by at the end of last week. He was in Bethel for Memorial Day and was going to the cemetery to plant flowers. He used to be the Boy Scout master when Chris and Tim were in scouts. He wanted to find out how they were doing and how to contact them.

Last week there was a meeting at the Town Hall on the Scenic Byways project. There were 16 residents and a few other interested people who attended. Toni Seger presented the project and answered questions from the audience.

Jason and Belinda Glover and children, Brianna and Calvin, had a great vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla. They went to Sea World and got to swim with the dolphins.

Gilead Historical Society

Cynthia Handlen, chairperson of the Beautification Committee, was busy last week. She gathered a crew and planted flowers in the barrels in front of the Town Hall. Cynthia enlisted the help of Hugh Chapman and Bill and Gale Tout. They also planted some perennials around the trees by Route 2.

Plans are coming along nicely for the Friends and Family Day on June 24. There are a few vendors who have asked to set up and there is always room for more.

The "Hastings" book will be ready in plenty of time for the event. We are taking orders from interested people at this point. Call Lin at 836-2987 or Bev at 836-2032.

This week's bit of history again comes from the writings of Emeline V. Heath as she tells about life on the farm in Gilead where she grew up.

"All the children had tasks to do before they could spend their time playing. The girls had knitting to do. A given number of times across or around the article was called a 'stint' and to keep track of their progress, they went up that many steps of the stairs and came down one each time, until they reached the floor. When they were older, they learned to spin and I was once privileged to see the whole process of converting 'rolls' into knitting yarn by spinning on the large spinning wheel. Our family did not have a loom, so I think my aunt did not learn to weave, but there were remnants of woven rag carpets around the house as long ago as I remember. I think they had been woven by someone else, perhaps a relative, or sent away to be done, as wool was sent to a mill to be made into rolls or yarn when that service was available."

Got any news. Call 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail.com.

A LIEUTENANT NOW—S.R. White (right) of the Bethel Police Department has been promoted from sergeant to lieutenant by Chief Alan Carr (left). Carr said White's promotion is the result of "his work ethic and dedication to his job and his town. He puts in a lot of extra time at no cost to the town." Carr said White will also now be eligible for training that can only be offered to officers with the rank of lieutenant or higher. White joined the BPD in January of 2005. A Marine Corps veteran, he has 17 years of police experience, working in Nevada and South Dakota before coming to Maine. (Photo: Scott Cole)

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

All is going well here in West Paris after my trip across the country with stops in Santa Fe, Oregon, and Ohio. Buffy was glad to see me and sleeps on my bed every night.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, June 4, the Rev. Roger Comstock will be the speaker at 9 a.m. Jim Burke is organist. A social coffee hour follows. All are welcome.

Fifteen members of the Goodwill Fellowship of the Universalist Church enjoyed their annual outing at the Chick-A-Dee Restaurant in Turner. The conversation was brisk and the food good. Several went shopping in Auburn afterward.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

Boy, things were a lot simpler when I was a kid, than they are now. For example, when I wanted to listen to music in my youth, I turned the radio on or put a record on the record player. That was it, simple enough even for me.

Well, it just isn't that simple any more. Sure, I have a radio, which also includes a CD and cassette player. And yes, I can listen to music on any one of those three functions. The problem is that I have to resort to consulting the user's manual just to figure out which buttons operate which function. By the time I get that under control I have a headache and no longer feel like hearing music.

I could always listen to music on my television because with the "dish" there are music channels to satisfy every conceivable taste. The problem there is figuring out the menu thingy with the remote control and scrolling through the abundance of music channels trying to find one I like. By the time I manage to find a channel that appeals to me, I've got another headache and don't feel like listening to anything.

Now I hear people talking about downloading music to iPods and Raspberries or maybe it's Blueberries. Whatever it is the very thought of it gives me a headache.

Trying to watch a movie for relaxation and entertainment doesn't work out any better for me then the music does. I have a DVD and VCR, neither of which I can figure out how to operate with the "dish". There is also a large selection of movie channels and Pay Perview, which I find just as frustrating as the music channels.

The other day after spending a considerable amount of time trying to choose between music and movies that I may or not be able to figure out how to play, it hit my aching head that my problem may not be just my technological ignorance – it may also be having too many choices.

Even then I had a nagging doubt that I made the right choice.

I have never been a very decisive person and the more choices I have the more frustrated I become. When I go out to a restaurant a menu presents quite a challenge. People I'm with are usually fainting from hunger by the time I've made up my mind what to order. Even then I had a nagging doubt that I made the right choice.

When I couldn't decide on a movie I gave up and decided that what I really wanted to do was have a peanut butter cup. This was in fact a big decision because I swore off peanut butter cups quite some time ago.

They are my absolute favorite candy bar and I was eating far too many of them. I'd buy a bag of the miniature peanut butter cups and then I'd eat them...well, I'd eat them just like candy; one right after the other until I had devoured the entire bag.

This day that I decided to fall off the peanut butter cup wagon I couldn't wait to get to the store. I could actually hear Mr. Resse's calling me. I could already taste the peanut butter and chocolate combination. My mouth was watering to the point of drooling.

When I got to the candy rack in the store anxious to grab a four-pack and be on my way, I was stopped dead in my tracks.

In simpler times the choice was a single peanut butter cup or a pack of two and in recent years a pack of four. I was blown away by the vast varieties of my favorite candy bar.

I had to make a decision between my old favorite standby or one with caramel added. Or I could choose between a jumbo-sized peanut butter cup with more chocolate or one with white chocolate. Added to the menu was an actual bar shaped peanut butter bar or one with a wafer covered with peanut butter and chocolate. Plus there were crunchy peanut butter cups with nuts mixed in and peanut butter stix.

I felt like a kid in a candy store unable to choose. I couldn't help but noticing that there are almost as many choices of Hershey bars and now even the Milky Way comes in milk chocolate or dark chocolate.

I was getting a severe headache while pondering all of the peanut butter choices. When the store manager approached me to say the store was closing I grabbed one of each and hurried home.

With my enormous assortment of candy bars spread out on the kitchen table I was faced with another choice...which one do I eat first.

I know deep down that having choices is good, but the way I see it when things are a lot simpler and I have fewer choices I also have far fewer headaches.

Mikaylah Coffman celebrated her first birthday on May 13 with a party at the home of her grandparents, Greg and Dixie Inman. Caiden Coffman celebrated his first birthday on May 19 at the home of his parents, Audrey and Travis Coffman in Buckfield.

Milton and Eleanor Inman were great-grandparents to these babies, which were born just 25 hours apart last year. The mothers are sisters and the fathers are brothers. Congratulations!

Hugh Swan of Greenwood will be the guest speaker at the Whitman Memorial Library on Thursday, June 8, at 10 a.m.

He will be showing toys made from wooden spools and elastic. He has a few originally made at Ekco Tebbets mill as well as those he is now making as a hobby.

The program is free and open to all. Light refreshments will be served.

The Allen sisters, Cynthia and Joyce Lamb and Ethelyn Turner visited cemeteries to place flowers on the graves of their ancestors. The stones at West Sumner and at West Minot have been cleaned and are white and moss free.

We also went to Buckfield to our parents' and grandparents' lots. Pretty flowers and plants were everywhere. I then went to the West Paris cemetery to put flowers on Newton's grave. I trust the new American flags will be placed before Memorial Day. The day was finished off with lunch at Market Square Restaurant. This is the one time each year that we are sure to all get together.

Buffy is more active and alert since the weather has warmed up. His fur coat is knotted some but I have been trimming it myself so far. Hopefully he won't have to go to the vet's for a complete haircut.

A couple of weeks ago Vicki Lowell and her horse, Matty, were reserved champions in the morning classes at the Ellis River Riders Horse Show in Andover. In the afternoon Vicki and her horse, Dakota, were reserved champions in the game classes. She takes weekly riding lessons in Norway learning Dressage, which is English saddle riding.

Eric Lowell plays on the Bethel Rookies baseball team and often will pitch an inning.

On Tuesday, friends of mine from Rockland, Si and Charles Horton, met me in Bethel for lunch. We enjoyed a pleasant visit and drove out to the house for dessert together. They took home an exercise bike I had, which was hardly ever used, and taking up space. I was extremely pleased to see it go. Si plays tennis and will use it to strengthen her legs. I hope to see them again during fall foliage. Several years ago Charles and Si flew over to the Bethel Airport and picked me up. We flew to Lyme, Conn., for a visit with our friend from Mexico, Jeanette Campbell Marston. On our return Charles flew over North Newry, and I was able to take a couple of pictures of my home behind the Newry Church. Then we landed, flew back to the airport where Walter Clark met us with my car, and I drove home.

Lately, a mother fox, who gave birth to at least five little ones, doesn't seem to mind that they stray a bit from home, near Route 26 on the Branch Road. I have seen them by the deck on several occasions. One has a white-tipped tail. I was told this week all the babies were playing around Lee Swan's stairs at the time the mail lady arrived.

Sandee and Leon Dunn spent the weekend at South Arm on Richardson Lake.

Lots of homes had extra cars this weekend. We certainly were fortunate with such nice summer weather to help us enjoy the three days of Memorial Weekend.

On Sunday, I met my cousin, Claire Marx in Bethel. She and I drove to the family cemetery in Berlin where we placed flowers. Afterward we enjoyed lunch at Northlands. What a great place to eat. After we got back to Bethel, Claire headed home to Windham.

The motorcyclists were out in numbers this weekend. The sound of their motors made me think of the busy weekend at the end of June when they head north to Colebrook, N.H., for the Blessing of the Bikes.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover readers, boy what a nice Memorial weekend we had! I hope everyone got to get outside and go camping, swimming, and cook out. We went to camp on Sunday and my kids went swimming, the water was a bit cold at Roxbury Pond, but that didn't bother them. It was soooo nice out! It was still quiet over there, not many people around yet. Tricia did have the misfortune of finding a tick on her leg — not a good sign, something we need to look out for more so this year. It takes a good cold winter to kill them, and we certainly didn't have that.

Andover was busy this past weekend with the opening of Foxgloves and Daisies Greenhouse. It is owned and operated by sisters, Beverly Swan, Linda Percival and Julia Gribbin. They held a Memorial Day weekend special.

There will be a Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day on Saturday, June 3, from 9 a.m. until noon at the parking lot of Region 9 in Mexico. This is open to Andover residents. Household waste includes anything labeled poison, caution, danger, flammable or corrosive. They include products such as aerosol cans, paint brush cleaners/solvents, barbecue and camping fuel and cleaners — toilet oven or drain. For more information and to register, contact the River Valley Healthy Coalition at 364-7408.

Parents — there will be a free family fishing festival on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. along the banks of the Androscoggin River at the BIG Adventure Center in Bethel. There will be a free casting workshop and kids can learn to tie flies. Bring a lunch. For more info, call (800) 442-5826.

Technology in Mexico has announced the scholarship awards for the Hanover Area Community Fund Scholarship. This year two awards were presented to senior students who have made outstanding efforts during the year. Erica Dyer of Andover Road in Rumford has been granted a $400 scholarship. Erica participated in the Certified Nurses Aid Program at Region 9. Also receiving a $400 scholarship is Aaron Arsenault from Hanover. He has been awarded the scholarship because of his participation in the Wood Harvesting Program at Region 9. Aaron, a Mountain Valley High School student, was outstanding on the football team. The Hanover area Community Fund Scholarship was derived from funds from the sale of the Knights of Pythias hall in Hanover.

The Hanover Planning Board will meet on Wednesday, June 7, at the Town Office. At their meeting on May 24, the board approved a new house on Howard Avenue. Code Enforcement Officer John Gauthier has been working on several shoreland zone violations around Howard Pond. One involved cutting trees within the 100-foot restricted area from the shore and the other involves a property owner who may have moved rocks from below the high water mark.

Officials from the Department of Environmental Protection are expected to also investigate.

More of the summer folks have arrived back in Hanover, including Warren and Marcia Stearns, John and Louise Morton, Bruce and Viola Schneider, and John and Marjorie Hannawalt.

The warm Memorial Day weekend brought out lots of folks. Some were yard saleing, attending memorial services, fishing, planting gardens, target practicing, and even swimming. It was a good start to the summer season.

Sympathy is extended to the family of David Daye. David passed away last week and there was a memorial service in Bethel on Saturday.

The crows of Baby Brook Lane hatched their eggs and they are busy feeding the babies.

West Bethel

Walt Disney and "Bambi" to the contrary notwithstanding, Mother Nature is not kind, and sad things happen in the natural world. Witness the fact that Mama Dove has gone missing, her nest abandoned with at least one egg in it, and Mama probably the victim of a hawk or a four-legged predator. On the bright side, however, the phoebes have hatched, and both parents have kept busy feeding the chicks about once a minute throughout the day.

While we've seen only a few robins in our yard, Joe Gable reports that he has a nest of three baby robins in a tree on his property. It's always so interesting to follow the progress of hatchlings and witness the excitement of their fledging.

Meanwhile, at Sunday River Alpacas, Androscoggin had a baby boy last Monday, followed by Pumpkin's birthing of her boy on Tuesday of last week. That's a total of three males born this month, and Maureen is hoping for two girls in June when the last two prospective moms are due to deliver.

Other activity continues apace at the 'paca place. The new building now has a layer of roof and a front porch, with all looking quite spiffy. Last Thursday was shearing day, and the entire herd, including the three babies, was shorn by two young men from Peru, one of them a veterinary technician down there, and the other, his assistant. The men were swift, competent, gentle, and caring.

Most of the animals acquiesced quietly to the procedure, but one female protested loudly and long, at the top of her lungs. I should note that shearing does not harm the animal, whether alpaca, llama, sheep, or goat. It is actually more comfortable for them in the heat of summer to have less coat to carry around. Fleece animals in the wild will go to great lengths to try to rub off excess hair or wool. At the root of the protest was not pain, but rather indignance at being restrained.

Another elderly dog miracle to report: the Boelsmas' aging cocker spaniel, Cookie, has been found and returned to her happy home. The Boelsmas are delighted to have her back and very grateful to the folks up the road who cared for her when she showed up at their home.

The Pleasant Valley Grange had its monthly potluck meeting last Thursday, with special guests Stella and Alfred Lovejoy in attendance. The Grange is looking into the possibility of using Oxford County Jail inmates to refurbish the interior paint of the upstairs room. The inmates are allowed one day a month in the "country" to help spruce up public places, and they painted the exterior of the Grange some years back.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bell have returned from their European sojourn, tired but content. They will probably be happy to tell about their travels this Saturday night when the West Bethel Union Church has a public supper from 5:30 to 6:30. Cost to the public is $6 per person, and all are welcome to attend.

Marilyn and Shirley Gilbert of the Flat Road celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, May 30. They tied the knot at the West Bethel Union Church all those years ago. Best wishes to them and all their family on the happy occasion.

Ruth Gilbert, formerly of the Flat Road, recently had surgery for an intestinal problem. She is now back in a nursing home in Massachusetts and doing well. Her daughter and granddaughter and spouses were in the house over the weekend, tending to upkeep and sale chores.

As I write, the sun has come out on this Memorial Day. Many area residents will have attended the parade in Bethel. Many will have had picnics with family and friends. It is to be hoped that everyone will have paused for a few moments of solemn remembrance of those loved ones who have passed on, and especially all those who have died in battle. So many wars, so little progress toward lasting peace. As the song "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" says, when will we ever learn?

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m.; evening service at 6 p.m.; Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting; Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time. Remember the church celebrates their 150th Anniversary the last weekend in July, with games, food, special music and speakers. Come help celebrate with them. Everyone is invited.

News from Mrs. Nieberle: She just came from the library lecture. It was Ed Howe with slides of Alaska. His daughter has lived at North Pole, Alaska for over 20 years. This is south of Fairbanks. The slides were impressive, the mountain ranges, glaciers and rivers, salmon swimming upstream, town shops of interest and there is still a lot of just beautiful country. Also, Mr. Howe and his family went fishing there and caught a halibut over 90 pounds. The picture of it certainly made you realize the weight. Many questions were asked about Alaska. Everyone there agreed. It was a breathtaking place.

Mrs. Nieberle had a good lunch at the Cinnamon Stick, and learned the owner lives on Cushman Road. He made a great chef's salad and her friend had a delicious piece of coconut cream pie.

Mrs. Nieberle read in the paper that two Maine men climbed Mt. Everest recently. The men have had the experience also of climbing Mt. McKinley and the Andes.

Patty Caret received her master's degree from University of Maine at Orono last Friday.

Rick Durgin, an employee of Woodstock Oil Co., is engaged to Tammy Belanger from Norway. Anyone who knows Tammy knows she is always nice and has a great smile. Keith Hadley's business is looking good. He is doing a good job redoing the lot. Sue Farnum is back at Maine Line for the summer.

Mrs. Nieberle is sure everyone has noticed that new maple trees have been planted at the post office. It seems the old ones had to be removed because they were dead.

Arla Patch's book, "Body Story," has been nominated as outstanding book of the year by the Independent Publishers, Jenkins Group, Inc. in celebration of excellence in independent publishing. The category is most life-changing book. Her book can be bought in Bethel and Norway.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will go to the Chick-A-Dee restaurant for their time together on June 2 for dinner out.

Franklin Grange 124 will meet on Monday, June 5, for election of officers.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet for a regular meeting on Monday, June 12.

Congratulations to all the young people graduating this June from high school and college.

The Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet will be held on Saturday, June 10, at the Legion Hall, Locke Mills at 6 p.m. It will be put on by the Legion ladies. All W.H.S. alumni are welcome. Special guests are classes of 1946, 1956 and Telstar seniors from Woodstock and Greenwood.

Ruth Cox would like to remind Historical Society members that the next meeting is June 10. There will be a food sale from 6 to 7 p.m. Donations of food from all members will be appreciated. Come buy some, also.

News from the Historical Society: The Historical Society Museum has great exhibits, a fine research library, and a nice museum store for you to enjoy this summer. If you leave a donation in the donation bowl it will help out. Curator Larry Billings enjoys the Maine Archives and Museums Newsletters he gets every so often. He frequently puts news of the society in it. The Victorian loveseat adds much to the Museum. Most visitors will recognize that style of furniture quicker than any other. The collections are truly exceptional. Come see for yourself. The museum is a historical and cultural center for the area. It is also a representative New England museum. They also emphasize the decorative arts. The museum fulfills multiple functions. The museum will be open Saturday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m. starting in June.

Larry Billings went to a sale at the West Paris Universalist Church. He donated something to the white elephant sale and bought a couple items. He saw Eleanor Inman. She donated clippings to the society. Much thanks.

Hugh Swan, Greenwood, will be guest speaker at Whitman Memorial Library on Thursday, June 8, at 10 a.m. He will be showing the small toys that used to be made by Ekco Tebbets mill. He has a few of the original toys and as a hobby is making toys out of wooden spools and elastic. This should bring memories. It is open to the public and there is no charge. Refreshments will be served.

Larry Billings, curator of Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the museum now has a great collection of furniture with the addition of a Victorian loveseat. There is also a lot of country furniture upstairs. Visit and see for yourself.

Joan Poland, Andrea Wing and Tommy Poland got together to celebrate Tommy's birthday at Joan's home in West Paris this past week. We try to get together on each of our birthdays, as we don't seem to have time otherwise. We had a good time visiting and hearing about each other's families. We all had pictures of grandchildren and great-grandchildren to show each other. I just happen to have pictures of my great-grandchildren, Zach and Landon, with me.

Happy birthday to those who were born in the month of June. They are: Danielle Appleby, Gary Critser, Alexis Grover, Phil Lynch, Megan Mack, Ciara Nadeau, Alishia Miclon, Craig Ryerson, Brandi Seames, Jerry Verrill, Marguerite Verrill and Elaine Wilday.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that home is a place where a man can say what he likes, because no one takes any notice of him anyway."

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. What a gorgeous Memorial Day weekend!

A little surprising we only got a few droplets of rain, but, believe me, we're not complaining.

We took Danny and David out for a walk, and enjoyed the sunshine for a bit. Of course, the ticks are plentiful, so, make sure that everyone checks themselves when going back in.

The Jeep Jamboree was up this weekend and Dana watched their antics on Saturday afternoon. Amazing what terrain those vehicles can traverse.

There were also a lot of yard sales going on over the weekend, and we stopped by quite a few. Ah, yard sales — when folks take their old junk they no longer want or need, put it on their lawn, so that others can buy their old junk, and then go home, clean out their drawers, and have their own yard sales.

In just another week, the seniors will be graduating; and a week or so after that, summer vacation will begin for the other kids.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep!

From

Tri Town Rescue

Twenty-five years ago the Andrews Funeral Home carried both live and dead bodies where they needed to go.

Twenty-five years ago regulations were just starting on ambulance training.

Twenty-five years ago radios were a rare commodity.

Twenty-five years ago paramedics were not heard of and ambulance attendants had slightly more than basic first-aid training.

Twenty-five years ago splinting was done to broken bones with boards covered with towels, and pain meds were not given until the person got to a hospital.

And twenty-six years ago a small group gathered to brainstorm what to do when Andrews Funeral Home could no longer provide ambulance transportation to the hospital. The small group, some of them still active with Tri-Town Rescue, started calling local people, got some training, and said it was possible to have a volunteer ambulance service for the towns of Woodstock, Greenwood, and West Paris. Later that same year Sumner joined and Milton Plantation a few years later. Hence the name Tri-Town Rescue expanded to more than three towns.

The first ambulance was the van purchased from Andrews Funeral Home and the first call was April 1, 1981.

Volunteers, including the Voc. Ed. classes at Oxford Hills, built the present ambulance barn at Trap Corner about 15 years ago. Prior to that, the ambulances were housed in the old fire station on Pioneer Street in West Paris and a bay behind the Grange Hall in Bryant Pond.

Now, 25 years later, the service has grown and evolved to provide quality care and licensed paramedics and EMTs around the clock.

Tri-Town celebrated its anniversary with May baskets for the children, blood pressure checks for the adults, and a demonstration of the Jaws for auto extrication.

Norm St. Pierre, chief, presented plaques to the original gang who are still active with the service: Mary Emery, Warren Emery, Dorene Wilbur, and Jane Chandler. Others present for long-time recognition included Susan Litchfield, Anita Hakala, and Wilda Dunham.

From

West Paris Public Library

Open house will be held at the West Paris Public Library on Saturday, June 3, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in conjunction with West Paris Old Home days.

From 12:30 to 2 p.m., Eleanor Koskela will visit the library for a book signing and to discuss the book, 'The Way It was'. This is a book of collected memories of her husband, Taisto. It includes tales from his parents' immigration through his experience as a sportsman and woodsman on Mollyockett Mountain. The stories of the life of a Finnish-American farmer are told with humor and candor. He lived in South Woodstock from 1919 to 2003, was a founding member of the Finnish-American Society of Maine, a registered Maine Guide as well as belonging to other organizations.

Friends of the Library are hosting this open house and will be on hand to answer questions about the library and its activities, the planned expansion and fundraising efforts, and any other questions people may have. Refreshments will be served during the event by the Friends group.

Drop by for a visit with Eleanor Koskela, to browse the building and its collection or for whatever other reason may entice you.

Maine Conservation School

Rep. Robert Duplessie of Westbrook and Douglas Alexander of Phippsburg have recently joined the Board of Directors of the Conservation Education Foundation of Maine (d.b.a. the Maine Conservation School).

Alexander has served as the president of the Phippsburg Sportsman's Association for seven years. He is a certified Maine State Safety Instructor for hunting, boating, archery, ATVs, snowmobiling, and trapping. He has served on the Phippsburg Town Lands Committee and on the Lobster Advisory Council. Doug is very active in youth outdoor education.

Representative Duplessie is currently serving his fourth term in the Legislature and his second consecutive term as Assistant House Majority Leader. He is a retired Professional Firefighter/EMT with the City of Portland Fire Department after 28 years of service. He enjoys reading, hiking, cross-country and downhill skiing. He is also a member of the Kora Temple Shriners, Mahoosuc Land Trust, Maine Chapter of the Nature Conservancy and other civic organizations.

The mission of the Conservation Education Foundation is to provide management direction and financial support for conservation education programs in Maine. These programs foster and encourage a stewardship ethic concerning the wise use and preservation of the natural world through education of children, teachers and people of all ages and backgrounds.

These new members join current board members Paul Wade of Manchester, Sigbert Seifert of Bremen, Vicki Moriarty of Bath, Don Kleiner of Union, and Don Richards of Litchfield.

NEW RESCUE TRUCK ON THE ROAD—The Woodstock Fire Department recently purchased this 1996 Dodge 4x4 to haul the department's new ice rescue sled. A fundraiser this past winter to buy the $6,000 sled brought in about $18,000, so some of the additional money was used to acquire the truck. There are still some funds left, Chief Geff Inman said, and they will be held in reserve for future rescue equipment needs. The lettering on the truck was done by Brushmarks of Hanover.

ative project addressing the changes that are occurring in the region.

Over the past 15 years, there have been significant changes to the economy and the land and natural resource base of the area. While change is nothing new to the area, the pulp and paper mills and lumber industry provided a relatively stable economic base for much of the past century. However, the pulp and paper companies have sold most of their land. The changing land ownership and land use as well as the changing economy will provide many challenges and some opportunities to the residents of the region. The changes will not recognize state borders and are likely to impact all of the residents of the region. Residents will be challenged to adapt to the evolving economy and maintain the features and resources that have made this area special since the first settlers moved here. Some aspects of our dependence on natural resources will change, but, by all accounts, the natural resources will continue to play a primary roll in the evolving economy.

Based on the changes, the Androscoggin River Watershed Council, the Mahoosuc Land Trust, the Northern White Mountain Chamber of Commerce, and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce decided to work collaboratively with the Northern Forest Alliance and its member organizations the Appalachian Mountain Club, the Appalachian Trail Conservancy, and The Wilderness Society to evaluate the changes and analyze natural resources, cultural, economic and demographic data. The conference is designed to provide you more information on the Initiative and the information and issues identified to date.

Conference sessions will include the Benefits of Town Forests, Ecological Values of the Mahoosucs, and Recreational Access and the Economy. Each session will have a panel of experts on the topics and provide time for questions and answers. Following that there will be a panel discussion of the Challenges and Opportunities for the Mahoosucs region due to changes in the pattern of land ownership in the area. The panel will include John Scarinza, Coos County Planning Board; and Leon Akers, Town of Andover Planning Board. The panel will provide many perspectives on the changes occurring and will stimulate thoughts about a vision for the future.

The evening open house will provide opportunities to interact with some of the panelists and with representatives from the organizations collaborating on the Mahoosucs Initiative. It will also provide an opportunity to provide direct input through a participatory mapping process. The evening session is free and open to the public.

Ferg Lea, chair of the ARWC, noted that residents and officials from throughout the watershed should be interested in the conference. Lea noted, "the quality of the watershed in the Mahoosucs will one day be a significant factor in the quality and health of the entire Androscoggin River system." Being the upper part of the watershed, what happens there will have wide-ranging impacts for everyone downstream, all the way to Merrymeeting Bay. In addition, many of the changes in the Mahoosucs are occurring on a smaller scale elsewhere in the watershed and beyond. Lea can be reached at Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments, 783-9186 if more information is needed.

Gould

She will attend Smith College in the fall.

Charlie Mele, son of Deborah and Charles Mele of Franklin Lakes, N.J., has been chosen by his classmates to speak at commencement prior to the awarding of diplomas.

Mele, who has attended Gould for the past two years, is a talented musician who is seldom seen without his guitar in hand. He has also been a competitive alpine skier at Gould, competing at both the prep school and FIS levels, and he is currently a co-captain of Gould's men's varsity tennis team.

He will attend Wheaton College in the fall.

Baccalaureate

On Friday afternoon, the Reverend Rickeman will deliver the invocation at Gould's traditional baccalaureate ceremonies at the West Parish Congregational Church. The graduating class has chosen classmate Ben Fitzpatrick and Associate Head of School Will Graham to address them.

Benjamin Fitzpatrick, a four-year student at Gould, is the son of Candace Forsley and David Fitzpatrick of Kennebunk.

Fitzpatrick has played lacrosse at Gould for three years, the last two years as a defenseman at the varsity level.

This winter he appeared in the dramatic production "A Love of Three Oranges," and during his junior year he volunteered in the Rug Rats ski instruction program.

As an active member and leader in Gould's Farm and Forest program, he can often be found at the Gould barn helping out with extra chores or working on his own pet projects. His self-designed Senior Four Point experience involved working on an environmentally-friendly logging operation that utilizes draft horses rather than skidders to remove logs from the woods.

After a year off, he plans to attend the University of New Hampshire to study forestry.

William Graham has worked at Gould for the past 22 years as an English teacher, admissions director, coach, and associate head of school.

Will and his wife, Marguerite, have two children who grew up in Bethel and attended Gould, Angus '01 and Kate '97.

In June the Grahams will move to Los Olivas, Calif., where Will has accepted the position of head of school at the Midlands School.

During his long tenure at Gould Will has been a beloved lacrosse coach to generations of Gould students at both the J.V. and varsity levels.

He has also left a legacy at Gould through his work as a mentor to students and faculty, always modeling a patient and respectful approach to working with individuals and understanding their unique gifts and challenges.

On Friday evening, the Gould Academy music department, under the direction of James McLaughlin III, will present its annual spring concert in Bingham Auditorium.

The concert, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will feature both instrumental and vocal selections. It is open to the public and admission is free.

TEACHER RECOGNIZED—Kim Rossignol, right, is the recipient of the Oxford Wal-Mart's Teacher of the Year Award. Rossignol is a kindergarten teacher at the Woodstock Elementary School, and is in her fourth year of teaching. She was nominated by one of her student's parents. The parent said that Rossignol does what is in the best interest of every child, takes the time to write notes to parents to keep them informed of their child's progress, and she is a magnificent teacher-leader. Rossignol received a $1,000 check for the school from Wal-Mart, and has been entered in a statewide Teacher of the Year competition. If chosen, she would win an additional $10,000 for the school. She would automatically be entered into the competition for the title of National Teacher of the Year. Rossignol also won the Oxford Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year Award in 2004.

What does it mean to "build green?"

Environmental scientists have tried to answer that question by giving us some tools that can help us decide which product, material or process is "green." They encourage us to ask, "Is it renewable? Polluting? Insulating? Non-toxic? Energy-efficient to build and maintain?"

Some people choose to hire a green architect and/or builder to make these decisions for them, but many are trying to make these decisions on their own.

One useful tool for determining the energy efficiency during the building process is a chart that rates the "embodied energy" of a material or product. That means, how much energy did it take to grow, harvest, mine, manufacture, transport, etc., this product? What is its life assessment of energy? The answer is not always in choosing the lowest possible factor, i.e., window glass can have a high-embodied energy rating but it is so valuable to us in solar gain through south facing windows and for our general health that it is very much worth the expenditure of energy. Window glazing in a south facing wall can save as much as 50 percent of the heating costs of a building. Cement, on the other hand, also has a high-embodied energy. It's estimated that 7 percent of the greenhouses' gases can be attributed to cement so many green home designers are trying to minimize the use of this valuable building material.

Gould, CPS partner in languages

In a yearlong project to integrate English reading skills with cultural exploration, Brenda Clark of Gould Academy and Karen DeCarolis of Crescent Park School have partnered to create a unique and mutually beneficial exercise in learning.

Clark teaches English as a second language and DeCarolis first grade.

During weekly visits to DeCarolis' classroom, Gould ESL students practice their communication skills while helping Crescent Park pupils practice reading skills. Both groups also get to share cultural experiences with one other.

"It's a great experience with the little kids," said Gould freshman See Jin Park, a student from Korea. "I wish I had more time with them."

The CPS youngsters eagerly await Fridays, the day when their "Gould friends" visit.

First-grader Shania Swan comments, "they make Fridays fun."

Early in the year, the Gould students brought picture books with them and read to small groups of pupils. As the year progressed and the first-grade pupils learned to read, they practiced by reading to their Gould buddies.

First-grader Kim Drew said, "I really, really like that they let us read to them, and they read to us. It's cool that we get to meet people from other countries like that."

Matt Bragdon said, "They have cool books they've chosen, and they let us choose, too. I really like one book they read called "When I Was So Mad." I wish they could stay forever."

The feeling is mutual. Thomas Kümmel, a senior from Germany, said "I enjoyed the time with the kids who tried to read many short stories."

Yanna Wu, a junior from China, said, "I think that going there is very meaningful, not only because they can improve their reading but we can improve our speaking and listening in English. I enjoy studying with them."

The opportunities to share each other's cultures also make the visits special. "I learned what American kids learn about when they are young and how things are taught. It was interesting because it is different than schools in Taiwan," said sophomore Jerry Kan.

Yi "Walter" Zeng, a sophomore from China, said, "I practiced the ability to give a speech in front of a lot of people by giving a presentation to the class. It helped to improve my pronunciation."

"They are so cute and innocent. They are eager to share their stories with us. They helped me to feel more comfortable in the U.S. It was such a unique experience," said Wen Jing "Florence" Liao, a sophomore from China.

First-grader Issac Ingle said, "I like the Gould kids a lot. They're nice, and we're lucky they're our Reading Buddies. I think it's great that they come from different countries and are all so nice to each other and to us."

After finding a book in English and Spanish, Nico Portuondo, a freshman from Spain, was coaxed into reading it to the entire class. The first-graders said they loved hearing real Spanish.

Some of the Gould students also gave PowerPoint presentations about their home countries. Topics included Chinese endangered animals, traditional Korean clothing and worldwide cartoons, with an emphasis on Japanese animé.

Matt Bennett summed up the experience: "I wish that they could be at Crescent Park all of the time."

Norway Memorial Library will be hosting three "First Friday" art openings this summer featuring the artwork of Lajos Matolcsy and his students

Mr. Matolcsy is the focus figure of the 4th Norway Summer Festival. He taught many students in the Oxford Hills area at Western Maine Art Center in Norway. Each month the library will display paintings by two artists. Following is the schedule for the First Friday receptions.

Friday June 2, 6:00 to 8:00 pm featuring paintings by Ann Beyer and Helen Morton, Friday July 7, 6:00 to 8:00 pm featuring paintings by Lajos Matolcsy and Lee Bean, Friday August 4, 6:00 to 8:00 pm featuring paintings by Ellie Viles and Marion Stewart

The public is invited to attend and is reminded that the paintings can be viewed any time the library is open. Another chance to view artwork is at Norway's 32nd annual Sidewalk Art Show, which will be held Saturday, July 8th on Main Street.

There are "First Friday" openings planned at other locations in Norway and South Paris including McLaughlin Garden, The Painted Mermaid Gallery and The Commons at Fare Share Market. Hours may vary between site.

It's always wise to call ahead

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

THE TREASURE HUNT IS ON!

THE MOLLYOCKETT DAY TREASURE HUNT

hosted by the Mahoosuc Arts Council and The Bethel Citizen

Mollyockett was a Pequawket Indian who lived among and befriended the early settlers of Western Maine. Second only to her medical reputation as the great "Indian doctress," was Mollyockett's fame as a storyteller. She was a welcomed guest at many homes, and some of her tales were passed down through the generations. Most famous are the "treasure stories" - the burying of Indian gold in West Paris beneath a trap hung in trees, and similar tales involving White Cap in Andover and Hemlock Island in East Bethel.

The Mollyockett Day Treasure Hunt will commemorate those tales by offering a $500 cash prize to the person(s) who finds the hidden treasure, in this case a medallion. The object of the hunt is to decipher a series of clues and locate the medallion hidden on public land somewhere within a 30 minute drive of Bethel. The finder of the medallion may claim the cash prize on Mollyockett Day.

Clues, each different and more revealing, will be published once a week for six weeks in The Bethel Citizen or until the medallion is found. This year, Mollyockett Day takes place on July 15. If the medallion is not found by midnight, Friday, July 14, the hunt will be terminated.

Treasure Hunt Rules

Anyone is eligible to join the thrilling hunt for $500 except past winners, employees and immediate family members of C's Publishing, board members and immediate family members of the Mahoosuc Arts Council as well as all contest sponsors and partners. To claim the prize money, you must be 18 years or older.

The finder of the Mollyockett Treasure Hunt medallion must immediately return the medallion to Vicki Rackliffe, executive director of the Mahoosuc Arts Council. The finder will receive the cash prize of $500 on Mollyockett Day, July 15. Clues for the Mollyockett Treasure Hunt will be hidden weekly in the Bethel Citizen beginning Thursday, June 8, unless the medallion is found prior to publish date.

If the medallion is not found by midnight July 14th, the Mahoosuc Arts Council reserves the right to terminate the hunt. The medallion is made of aluminum and is approximately two inches in diameter. It will be hidden only on public land, somewhere within a 30 minute drive of Bethel. The Mahoosuc Arts Council reserves the right to discontinue the hunt at any time if public property is destroyed.

The medallion is generally hidden in or attached to something else. The medallion is not buried below ground - as the rules state, searchers do not need to destroy property to find it, this includes digging up the ground. Searchers also do not need to risk personal injury to find the medallion. All contestants agree that the Bethel Citizen and the Mahoosuc Arts Council will have no liability whatsoever and will be held harmless of any injuries, losses or damages of any kind resulting in whole or in part, directly or indirectly from acceptance, possession, misuse or use of the prize or participation in this contest.

The winner grants permission for the Bethel Citizen and the Mahoosuc Arts Council to use his or her name, photograph, voice and/or likeness for advertising and/or publicity.

BEFORE BUYING A HOME!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, "must have", "should have" and "would be nice to have". By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

SHOPPING FOR THE BEST

The most important thing to look for when you are shopping for a mortgage is the interest rate, right? Not necessarily. There are many other factors to consider, including the lender's charges for making the loan, the terms under which the loan will be approved, and the lender's reputation for timely completion of loan applications to meet purchase agreement deadlines.

When Realtors are involved in sales transactions, they don't tell buyers which mortgage companies to use. They can provide the names of established lenders who have provided good service to their customers. They can give general information about the different mortgage options that are available today. Using a low interest rate as the main criteria for choosing a mortgage could cost you money - and perhaps the home you want - if the company cannot deliver on its' promises.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

ELLA MAY HAYES

Ella May Hayes, nee White, passed away on Saturday, May 13, 2006 at the Clough Center in New London, N.H., following a three-week hospice celebration of her life with family and friends.

Born in 1909, Ella May grew from a one-room schoolhouse and a farm family to become a teacher who always taught the dream of being whatever one chose to be and the value of a good education. By example, she taught those around her to sing, dance, celebrate life, see the good in others, speak and write properly, have good manners and appreciate that those around you have done the best they could do.

She grew up in Nova Scotia, Canada, one of six brothers and sisters, and was affectionately known as "Manie." She married Andrew Hayes in 1934 and raised three children in Paramus, N.J.: George, Nancy and Bona. She was one of the founding parishioners of the Paramus Congregational Church, a Sunday School teacher, and her passions were reading and reciting poetry. She could always be found with "her nose in a book" or at the local library.

The Hayes' vacationed for many years at North Pond in Woodstock, relocating there and to Whiting, N.J., after retirement. As her great-grandson wrote her, "We loved to play in the lake at your house because it had a nice beach and a big rock for us to climb up on and play around. We liked to visit because you and Gramps always had doughnuts for us."

Ella May's daughters, Bona of Bow, N.H., Nancy and husband Bill Uber of The Villages, Fla., and Woodstock, son George and wife Arlene of Bethel, her nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren will continue to celebrate the wonderful life she led. She was a little lady, but she leaves a great hole behind. We love you, Ella May: your spirit lives on in our hearts.

A memorial service will be held at the Paramus Congregational Church, Paramus, N.J., at 10 a.m. on June 24, 2006. Donations in lieu of flowers may be sent to the Clough Center, New London, NH.
